USTA PRO CIRCUIT WOMEN’S TENNIS RETURNS TO KANSAS CITY

The Women’s Pro Tennis Classic in Kansas City returns to the USTA Pro Circuit for the third straight year. It is one of two USTA Pro Circuit women’s events held in Missouri this year; St. Joseph hosted a $10,000 tournament in July.

On Sunday, Oct. 2, free tennis clinics are available for kids, utilizing 10 and Under Tennis. 10 and Under Tennis is a nationwide USTA initiative that scales the game to size for younger players. 10 and Under Tennis uses smaller courts, slower-moving and lower-bouncing balls, and smaller and lighter racquets designed specifically for the game’s youngest competitors. In turn, kids learn, rally, play and compete right from the start, making the game more accessible and more fun, and increasing the chance that they will stick with tennis for a lifetime.

Those players expected in the main draw include: Varvara Lepchenko, who upset No. 18 seed Flavia Pennetta at the 2011 French Open and ended the 2010 season by winning three straight tournaments and 15 consecutive matches on the USTA Pro Circuit; Jamie Hampton, who qualified for the 2011 Australian Open and last year rose 593 spots in the WTA rankings (from No. 726 to No. 133 at season’s end) by reaching the singles final at eight USTA Pro Circuit events, with victories at a USTA Pro Circuit-best four tournaments; Alexa Glatch, who is on the comeback trail after an injury-marred 2010, and whose 2011 highlights include reaching the quarterfinals of the WTA event at Memphis and qualifying at Wimbledon, where she lost to eventual champion Petra Kvitova in the main draw; and Madison Brengle, who rose to No. 4 in the world junior rankings in 2007 after reaching the girls’ singles final at both the Australian Open and Wimbledon, and who qualified for the WTA event in College Park, Md., this summer.

Other Americans expected in the main draw include: Alexandra Stevenson, a 1999 Wimbledon semifinalist and a former world No. 18; Ashley Weinhold, who qualified for the Olympus US Open Series event in Carlsbad, Calif., this summer, and who won the 2007 USTA Girls’ 18s title to earn a wild card into the main draw of the US Open; Gail Brodsky, who is playing at Memphis and qualifying at Wimbledon, where she lost to eventual champion Petra Kvitova in the main draw; and Madison Brengle, who rose to No. 4 in the world junior rankings in 2007 after reaching the girls’ singles final at both the Australian Open and Wimbledon, and who qualified for the WTA event in College Park, Md., this summer.

Last year’s singles runner-up Edina Gallovits-Hall, from Romania, is a 12-time singles champion on the USTA Pro Circuit and the top seed this week in Kansas City.
in her fourth USTA Pro Circuit event of 2011 after spending the majority of the year competing in Europe and Australia, and who earned a wild card into the 2008 US Open after winning the USTA Girls’ 18s National Championships; Chi Chi Scholl, who has risen in the world rankings from No. 729 at the end of 2010 to No. 174 by qualifying at eight USTA Pro Circuit events this season, reaching three quarterfinals and two semifinals, and winning two titles; and Ahsha Rolle, who has won three USTA Pro Circuit doubles titles this season.

International standouts expected to play in the main draw are: former world No. 54 and last year’s singles runner-up Edina Gallovits-Hall of Romania, a 12-time singles champion on the USTA Pro Circuit and the top seed this week in Kansas City; Petra Rampre of Slovenia, who won $50,000 USTA Pro Circuit tournaments this season in Boston and Raleigh, N.C.; and former world No. 65 and 2009 Kansas City singles champion Regina Kulikova of Russia, who won the USTA Pro Circuit $75,000 event in Albuquerque, N.M., two weeks ago, and reached the second round of the Australian Open this year.

Players receiving main draw wild cards include: 2008 Dunlop Orange Bowl champion Julia Boserup, a full-time trainee at the USTA Training Center Headquarters in Boca Raton, Fla., who won the $25,000 USTA Pro Circuit singles title in Redding, Calif., last month; 2011 US Open National Playoffs singles and doubles runner-up Yasmin Schnack, who formerly played for UCLA; and Lauren Davis, who ended the 2010 season on a 27-match winning streak, sweeping three ITF Junior Circuit tournaments, a $25,000 USTA Pro Circuit event and the USTA Australian Open Wild Card Playoff to earn a wild card into the 2011 Australian Open. After finishing 2010 as the No. 3 junior in the world, the 17-year-old Davis has won two USTA Pro Circuit titles this year. She also won the 2011 USTA Girls’ 18 National Championships to earn a wild card into the main draw of the 2011 US Open.

Among those expected in qualifying are: 17-year-old Krista Hardebeck, who reached the girls’ singles quarterfinals at the 2011 US Open; Asia Muhammad, who learned to play tennis at the Andre Agassi Boys and Girls Club in Las Vegas, and who won the doubles title at the 2009 USTA Girls’ 18s National Championships with partner Christina McHale, earning a wild card into the women’s doubles main draw at the US Open; and Amanda Fink, a former college tennis standout at USC.

Others expected in qualifying include: 2010 US Open National Playoffs women’s singles champion Alexandra Mueller; Macall Harkins, who formerly played for Texas Christian University; Amanda McDowell, the 2008 NCAA Division I singles champion at Georgia Tech; Canadian Fed Cupper Marie-Eve Pelletier, who has ranked in the Top 100 in doubles each of the last three years; and former world No. 50 Mashona Washington, who reached the third round at Wimbledon in 2005 and has won 13 career USTA Pro Circuit doubles titles.

USTA PRO CIRCUIT

With 90-plus tournaments hosted annually throughout the country and prize money ranging from $10,000 to $100,000, the USTA Pro Circuit is the pathway to the US Open and tour-level competition for aspiring tennis players and a frequent battleground for established professionals. The USTA launched its Pro Circuit 32 years ago to provide players with the opportunity to gain professional ranking points, and it has since grown to become the largest developmental tennis circuit in the world, offering more than $2.5 million in prize money. Last year, more than 1,000 men and women from more than 70 countries competed in cities nationwide. Maria Sharapova, Andy Roddick, Caroline Wozniacki, James Blake, Justine Henin, Andy Murray and Sam Querrey are among today's top stars who began their careers on the USTA Pro Circuit.

The USTA Pro Circuit helped launch the careers of two young Americans—Melanie Oudin and John Isner. Oudin began 2009 ranked No. 177, but climbed the rankings by winning back-to-back $50,000 USTA Pro Circuit events. With a boost in confidence, she reached the fourth round of Wimbledon and the quarterfinals of the 2009 US Open. She peaked at world No. 31 in 2010 and has been a crucial player on the U.S. Fed Cup team. Isner joined the USTA Pro Circuit after turning pro in 2007 and jump-started the best season of his career by winning the Tallahassee Challenger in 2009. Subsequently, he reached the semifinals at two Olympus US Open Series events and upset Andy Roddick en route to the fourth round at the 2009 US Open. Last year, Isner captured his first tour title, reached three tour finals, and also won the longest match in history at Wimbledon. He finished 2010 ranked in the Top 20.

10 AND UNDER TENNIS

10 and Under Tennis is a nationwide USTA initiative that uses the QuickStart Tennis play format and takes a better approach to introducing kids to the game. Balls are lower in compression, so they are easier to hit; racquets are sized for small hands; and the courts are smaller and easier to cover. Full-sized courts can now be reconfigured to accommodate up to six 36-foot courts. In turn, kids learn, rally, play and compete right from the start, and the game becomes more accessible and fun for them. For more information, visit www.10andundertennis.com.

NJTL

Cities across the country participate in the USTA/National Junior Tennis and Learning (NJTL) network, a nationwide network of community tennis organizations seeking to develop the character of young people through both tennis and education. Founded by Arthur Ashe in 1969, more than 550 registered chapters/programs exist throughout the nation with more than 220,000 participants ages 6-18, making NJTL one of the USTA's largest community-based initiatives.

PLAYER DEVELOPMENT

The USTA Player Development program identifies and develops the next generation of American champions by surrounding the top junior players and young pros with the resources, facilities and coaching they need to reach their maximum potential. The Player Development program is based at the USTA Training Center Headquarters in Boca Raton, Fla., and also utilizes Training Centers in Carson, Calif., and Flushing, N.Y., as well as a series of Certified Regional Training Centers located throughout the continental United States.

US OPEN NATIONAL PLAYOFFS

The USTA launched the US Open National Playoffs last year, making the US Open “open” to anyone age 14+ and of all skill levels. This year, more than 1,200 players competed in 16 Sectional Qualifying Tournaments nationwide for a 2011 US Open Qualifying Tournament wild card. A mixed doubles element was also added this year, where the winning team won a main draw mixed doubles wild card. Blake Strode, 24, of St. Louis, defended his US Open National Playoffs men’s title this year and Robin Anderson, 18, of Matawan, NJ, won the women’s wild card. David Martin and Christina Fusano won the mixed doubles tournament.

 All players American unless otherwise noted. * All information as of April 25, 2011
Lauren Albanese
Age: 21 (10/1/89)  Hometown: Coral Springs, Fla.  Ranking: 182

Albanese has established herself as a steady presence in the world’s Top 200 over the past five years. She broke through in 2006 with a tournament title at the $10,000 USTA Pro Circuit event in Wichita, Kan., and followed that victory by winning the USTA Girls’ 18s National Championships. Her victory in the Girls’ 18s earned Albanese an automatic wild card into the US Open, where she advanced to the second round of the women’s singles main draw. Albanese has reached seven career singles finals on the USTA Pro Circuit and advanced to the quarterfinals or better at four USTA Pro Circuit events in 2010. This year she has reached the semifinals of the $25,000 event in Rancho Mirage, Calif., and competed in qualifying for the Australian Open. As a junior in 2007, she served as a practice partner with the U.S. Fed Cup team.

Julia Boserup
Age: 19 (9/9/91)  Hometown: Boca Raton, Fla.  Ranking: 303

Boserup had her breakthrough in December 2008, winning the prestigious Dunlop Orange Bowl for her first title on the ITF World Junior Circuit. She has built on that success over the past two-plus years, reaching the USTA Pro Circuit doubles final at the $50,000 event in Kansas City, Mo., with partner Laura Granville in 2009 and, in 2010, advancing to her first career USTA Pro Circuit semifinal at the $50,000 event in Indian Harbour Beach, Fla. As a junior, Boserup reached the second round at the 2009 US Open girls’ singles and the singles and doubles semifinals at the 2008 USTA Girls’ 18s National Championships. A two-time practice partner for the U.S. Fed Cup team, Boserup trains full-time at the USTA Training Center Headquarters in Boca Raton, Fla.

Madison Brengle

Brengle got off to a great start to 2011, winning the singles title at the $25,000 USTA Pro Circuit event in Hammond, La., in early March for her first pro singles title since 2005 (when she won her first event at age 15). Brengle was an outstanding junior competitor, rising to No. 4 in the world junior rankings in 2007 by reaching the girls’ singles final at both the Australian Open and Wimbledon. On the pro level, she has played in the main singles draw at three of the four Grand Slam events, competing in the 2007 US Open and winning USTA wild card playoffs to gain entry into the Australian Open (2007-08) and the French Open (2008).

Beatrice Capra
Age: 19 (4/6/92)  Hometown: Ellicott City, Md.  Ranking: 234

Capra made a name for herself on the world stage at last year’s US Open. She won an eight-player USTA playoff to earn the final wild card into the main draw—her first main draw at a tour event—where she upset No. 18 seed Aravane Rezai en route to the third round. Capra also found success on the USTA Pro Circuit in 2010, reaching the semifinals at the $25,000 event in Osprey, Fla., and the round of 16 in four tournaments at the $50,000 level or above. In addition, Capra won two international events as a junior last year, including the prestigious Italian Open, to ascend at a career-best No. 8 in the world junior rankings. In 2009, she reached the girls’ singles quarterfinals at the US Open and the girls’ doubles semifinals at Wimbledon. She trains at the Evert Tennis Academy in Boca Raton, Fla., and signed a national letter of intent to play for Duke in the fall.

Julia Cohen

Cohen is a veteran of all levels of competitive tennis, excelling as a junior and collegiate player and having competed in USTA adult events and on the USTA Pro Circuit. Cohen is currently a senior at California University in Pennsylvania after earning All-America honors as a sophomore at the University of Miami (Fla.) and taking home ITA Rookie of the Year honors as a freshman at the University of Florida. She played extensively on the USTA Pro Circuit and ITF Circuit in 2010, winning a tournament in Canada and reaching back-to-back finals at the end of the year at $25,000 events in Brazil. She reached a career-best ranking of No. 153 in November 2010. In 2008, she won three USTA adult national championships and added another in 2009, all in doubles events with her parents. Cohen peaked at No. 4 in the ITF World Junior Rankings in 2007, when she reached the Australian Open girls’ doubles final.

* All information as of April 25, 2011
Kimberly Couts

Demonstrating steady progress up the professional ladder, Couts won her first pro title at the $10,000 USTA Pro Circuit event in Evansville, Ind., in 2007, and has since graduated to $25,000 and $50,000 events. She reached the singles quarterfinals of better of four events in 2010, including the quarterfinals of the $75,000 event in Albuquerque, N.M., and won the doubles at the $50,000 event in Boston. Couts captured her sixth career USTA Pro Circuit doubles title at the $25,000 event in Clearwater, Fla., earlier this year. A standout junior player, Couts won the 2006 Easter Bowl and was a former USTA girls’ 16s No. 1.

Jill Craybas
Age: 36 (7/4/74)  Hometown: Huntington Beach, Calif.  Ranking: 105

A Top 100 player each of the past 10 seasons, Craybas reached a career-high No. 39 in 2006 at age 31. She has competed in all four Grand Slams each year since 2001 and has played in 41 straight Grand Slam singles main draws entering 2011. Her best result came at Wimbledon in 2005, when she knocked off Serena Williams en route to the fourth round. Craybas won the 2002 Japan Open on the WTA tour and has also won four tour-level doubles titles. She has represented the U.S. in the Olympics (2008 Beijing) and the Fed Cup, and captured her third career USTA Pro Circuit singles title at the $75,000 event in Midland, Mich., in 2007. She is the only woman to be a member of a national championship team with two different schools (Texas in 1993, Florida in 1996) and won the NCAA singles championship in 1996.

Lauren Davis
Age: 17 (10/9/93)  Hometown: Gates Mills, Ohio  Ranking: 373

Davis finished 2010 as perhaps the hottest player in tennis. She won six events in the last three months of the year, a run that included two USTA Pro Circuit tournaments and three junior tournaments as well as the eight-woman USTA playoff to earn a wild card into the main draw of the 2011 Australian Open—her first main draw appearance in a Grand Slam event. (She lost to Australian and No. 5 seed Samantha Stosur in the first round.) In junior events, Davis won the Yucatan Cup in Mexico, the Eddie Herr International and the prestigious Dunlop Orange Bowl to close the junior season; she also reached the final of the Easter Bowl earlier in 2010 and finished the year ranked No. 3 in the world junior rankings. On the USTA Pro Circuit, she won her first professional title at the $10,000 event in Williamsburg, Va., in October 2010.

Julie Ditty

Ditty is the all-time leader in career USTA Pro Circuit titles with 38. This year, the Vanderbilt graduate won the doubles titles at the $25,000 events in Hammond, La., and Rancho Santa Fe, Calif., for her 28th and 29th career USTA Pro Circuit doubles titles. In 2009, she teamed with Liezel Huber to win the deciding doubles match in the U.S. ’s 3-2 victory over Argentina in the Fed Cup first round, and she advanced to the second round of the doubles at three of the four Grand Slams to achieve a career-best doubles ranking of No. 66. In 2008, Ditty competed in the singles main draw of the Australian Open, French Open and Wimbledon, as well as the doubles main draw of the US Open, where she reached the round of 16 with Carly Gullickson. Ditty broke into the Top 100 in singles in November 2007 after advancing to the semifinals of the tour event in Quebec City, Canada.

Stephanie Dubois (CAN)
Age: 24 (10/31/86)  Hometown: Laval, Canada  Ranking: 165

Dubois has been a steady fixture in and around the Top 100 over the past few years. She has competed in the main draws of three of the four Grand Slam events in each of the last three seasons, advancing to the second round of the US Open in 2009. She peaked at No. 95 in the world rankings in 2008. In 2010, Dubois advanced to her 13th USTA Pro Circuit singles final at the $50,000 event in Lexington, Ky., and, in 2009, she reached the second round at the Family Circle Cup in Charleston, S.C., on the WTA tour and qualified for the main draw at Indian Wells. Dubois holds an overall 21-8 record in Fed Cup play for Canada, and she owns five career singles titles and five career doubles titles on the USTA Pro Circuit.
Irina Falconi
Age: 20 (5/4/90)
Hometown: Jupiter, Fla.
Ranking: 119

Falconi turned professional in 2010 and she has been on a steady upward trajectory ever since. Falconi turned pro following a stellar two-year career at Georgia Tech, where earned All-America honors as a freshman and was the No. 1 player in the 2009-10 NCAA season-end Intercollegiate Tennis Association rankings as a sophomore, posting a 40-3 overall record. Shortly thereafter, she became just the 10th qualifying wild card ever to reach the US Open main draw and achieved great success on the USTA Pro Circuit, reaching the semifinals or better in four events, all at the $50,000 level or above, to finish out the year. Earlier this year she reached the final in both singles and doubles at the $100,000 event in Midland, Mich., to close in on the Top 100.

Edina Gallovits-Hall (ROU)
Age: 26 (12/10/84)
Hometown: Atlanta
Ranking: 111

Gallovits-Hall has been a model of consistency throughout her 12-year professional career. She has played in all four Grand Slam singles main draws, advancing to the second round five times, and improved her ranking each year from 2000 to 2008, when she reached a career-high of No. 54. She has finished in the Top 100 each of the last four years and ended 2010 at the highest year-end ranking (No. 75) of her career. After playing primarily in WTA events in 2009, Gallovits-Hall returned to the USTA Pro Circuit in 2010 with great success, winning three singles titles—including two at the $50,000 level—to improve to second all-time in USTA Pro Circuit singles titles with 12. In Fed Cup play, Gallovits-Hall competed for Romania 2001 and 2003 and went 3-3 in singles, 4-8 overall.

Alexa Glatch
Age: 21 (9/10/89)
Hometown: Newport Beach, Calif.
Ranking: 223

Glatch is on the comeback trail after an injury-marred 2010. She got off to a strong to 2011 by qualifying and reaching the quarterfinals of the WTA event in Memphis, Tenn., and also qualified for the $100,000 USTA Pro Circuit event in Midland, Mich. In 2009, she propelled the U.S. to the Fed Cup final by winning two of the U.S.'s three points—dropping just six games in four sets against two Top 50 players—in its 3-2 semifinal victory against the Czech Republic. She also defeated then-No. 14 seed Flavia Pennetta, 6-1, 6-1, in the first round of the 2009 French Open. As a junior, Glatch reached the final of the girls’ singles and doubles at the 2005 US Open, but suffered career-threatening injuries in a motor scooter accident shortly thereafter. She returned to the USTA Pro Circuit the following year and won her first career pro title at the $10,000 event in Fort Worth, Texas.

Carly Gullickson
Age: 24 (11/26/86)
Hometown: Palm Beach Gardens, Fla.
Ranking: 453

With an accomplished all-around game, Gullickson has quietly established herself as one of the United States’ premier doubles players. She has finished in the Top 100 of the year-end doubles rankings in five of the past six years (all but an injury-marred 2007) and, in 2009, won the US Open mixed doubles title with Travis Parrott, defeating the top three seeds en route to the title. Gullickson has also reached the round of 16 in women’s doubles twice at the US Open and owns two WTA doubles titles. On the USTA Pro Circuit, she holds 16 career doubles titles (fifth all-time), including the $50,000 event in Charlottesville, Va., last year. She also reached the doubles quarterfinals at the 2010 Olympus US Open Series event in Cincinnati with her sister, Chelsey, the 2010 NCAA singles champion. Gullickson’s father, Bill, was a professional pitcher who led the American League with 20 wins for the 1991 Detroit Tigers.

Chelsey Gullickson
Age: 20 (8/29/90)
Hometown: Palm Beach Gardens, Fla.
Ranking: 800

Gullickson won the 2010 NCAA Division I singles title to become the University of Georgia’s first NCAA women’s singles champion since 1994. In turn, she received a wild card into the 2010 US Open, where she faced No. 1 seed Caroline Wozniacki in the first round. In 2009, Gullickson was named the Intercollegiate Tennis Association Rookie of the Year and tied a school record with 69 total wins. She won her first USTA Pro Circuit singles title at the $25,000 event in Raleigh, N.C., in 2008 and, that same year, teamed with sister Carly to reach the doubles final at the $25,000 USTA Pro Circuit event in Hammond, La. The sisters also paired to reach the quarterfinals at the Olympus US Open Series event in Cincinnati last year.
Jamie Hampton
Age: 21 (1/8/90)  Hometown: Auburn, Ala.  Ranking: 118

Hampton played the best tennis of her career in 2010, rising an astounding 593 spots in the WTA rankings (from No. 726 to No. 133 at season’s end) by reaching the singles final at eight USTA Pro Circuit events, with victories at a USTA Pro Circuit-best four tournaments, two at the $50,000 level. Hampton was rewarded for her efforts with a wild card into the 2010 US Open main draw. This year she qualified for the Australian Open as well as the WTA events in Indian Wells, Calif., and Miami, and is approaching the Top 100 for the first time in her career. As a junior, Hampton twice won the USTA Girls’ 18s doubles title (2007-08) to earn a wild card into the US Open women’s doubles draw, and she competed in the US Open juniors in singles or doubles each year from 2005 to 2008.

Krista Hardebeck
Age: 16 (9/20/94)  Hometown: Santa Ana, Calif.  Ranking: 333

Hardebeck established herself as one of the most promising young players in the U.S. over the past two years, with strong results in the juniors and on the USTA Pro Circuit. In April 2010, she went 12-0 in junior singles play, winning the USTA International Spring Championships and the Easter Bowl without dropping a set to join Sam Querrey and Melanie Oudin as the only players to win both titles in back-to-back weeks. Hardebeck was later awarded a wild card into the 2010 US Open Qualifying Tournament, where she won her opening match. This year Hardebeck posted her best professional result by qualifying and advancing to the semifinals of the $25,000 USTA Pro Circuit event in Rancho Mirage, Calif., defeating No. 1 seed Julia Cohen en route. Hardebeck has been recognized by Sports Illustrated in the “Faces in the Crowd” section, and she was also named by SI as a player to watch in the coming years.

Angela Haynes

Haynes found success at the Grand Slams in the early stages of her career, advancing to the third round of the 2004 US Open and taking a set from Serena Williams in the first round of Wimbledon in 2005. Injuries have proved troublesome since, but Haynes has remained a steady presence in American tennis. In 2008, she advanced to the semifinals of tour-level Quebec City as a qualifier (falling to then-world No. 11 Nadia Petrova). The following year, she reached the third round at Indian Wells, qualified for two WTA events, won a round in qualifying at the French Open and Wimbledon and advanced to the final round of qualifying at the US Open. Overall, she holds eight career USTA Pro Circuit doubles titles, including a victory at the $25,000 event in El Paso, Texas, in 2010 with Ahsha Rolle, along with two career singles titles.

Madison Keys
Age: 16 (2/17/95)  Hometown: Boca Raton, Fla.  Ranking: 409

Keys is among the most promising young American players, and already has achieved success on the professional level. In 2009, she became the youngest player (14 years, 48 days) since Martina Hingis in 1994 to win a WTA match, defeating Alla Kudryavtseva in Ponte Vedra Beach, Fla., and the youngest ever to compete in World TeamTennis, where she defeated Serena Williams in a singles match. Keys continued her ascent in 2010 on the USTA Pro Circuit, advancing to the semifinals of five events and winning her first professional title at the $10,000 event in Cleveland. She also received a wild card into the 2010 US Open Qualifying Tournament, where she lost in three sets in the first round, and earlier this year she stretched former Top 10 player Patty Schnyder to a third-set tie-break in Miami. A standout junior, Keys was a girls’ 16s finalist at the 2008 Dunlop Orange Bowl and won the 2010 Pan-American Closed Championships.

Michaella Krajicek (NED)
Age: 21 (1/9/89)  Hometown: Bradenton, Fla.  Ranking: 140

Krajicek finished in the Top 40 of the WTA rankings in 2006 and 2007, reaching the third round at the 2006 Australian Open and 2007 French Open, as well as the quarterfinals at Wimbledon in 2007. She also won three WTA-level singles titles. Injuries have since slowed her progress, but Krajicek has been working her way back into form on the USTA Pro Circuit. She captured her first USTA Pro Circuit singles title in 2009 at the $50,000 event in Boston and won her second $50,000 event in Charlottesville, Va., in early 2010. In addition, in 2010 she won her fourth career WTA doubles title in Memphis with American Vania King. In 2004, Krajicek, a former world junior No. 1, won the singles and doubles titles at the US Open juniors and won the junior French Open doubles title as well. She is the younger sister of 1996 Wimbledon champion Richard Krajicek.
Lindsay Lee-Waters
Age: 33 (6/28/77)
Hometown: Dunwoody, Ga.
Ranking: 185

Lee-Waters, a mother of two, was the leading money winner on the women’s USTA Pro Circuit in 2009 and had another successful year in 2010, winning four USTA Pro Circuit doubles events (all with Megan Moulton-Levy) and advancing to two singles finals, including at the $75,000 event in Albuquerque, N.M. Lee-Waters first broke into the Top 50 in 1995, when she qualified for Wimbledon and upset Pam Shriver in the opening round. Since taking time off in 2000 to give birth to her first child, a daughter, Lee-Waters has played primarily on the USTA Pro Circuit. Overall, she holds 30 USTA Pro Circuit career titles (19 in doubles), tying her for second all-time with Nana Miyagi. Lee-Waters has also competed in 13 US Opens, either in the qualifying or main draw, advancing to the second round in 1995 and 2004.

Varvara Lepchenko
Age: 24 (5/21/86)
Hometown: Allentown, Pa.
Ranking: 81

Lepchenko, a native of Uzbekistan, has been a consistent presence in the Top 100 for the past two years. After a steady rise on the USTA Pro Circuit—she finished sixth or better on the USTA Pro Circuit prize money list each year from 2005 to 2008—Lepchenko advanced to the second round of both the French Open and Wimbledon in 2010 and qualified for a number WTA events. She also captured three USTA Pro Circuit singles titles, including the $75,000 event in Albuquerque, N.M., to close the year, putting her second on the 2010 USTA Pro Circuit prize money list and boosting Lepchenko to her best-ever year-end ranking. (At No. 79, she was the No. 5 American in the 2010 year-end rankings.) Lepchenko has been living in the U.S. since 2001 after receiving political asylum. She changed her nationality in 2007 to play for the U.S., and will officially obtain U.S. citizenship this year.

Mirjana Lucic (CRO)
Age: 29 (3/9/82)
Hometown: Tampa, Fla.
Ranking: 99

Lucic was one of the tennis’ rising stars in the late 1990s, peaking at No. 32 in 1998 and advancing to the semifinals of Wimbledon in 1999. She also won the 1998 Australian Open doubles title with Martina Hingis and, in singles, advanced to the third round at the US Open in 1997 and 1998 and at the French Open in 2001. Lucic, however, went into semi-retirement in 2003, playing in just two events between the 2003 US Open and the 2007 WTA event in Memphis (both at the $75,000 USTA Pro Circuit event in Dothan, Ala.). She officially launched her comeback in 2007 on the USTA Pro Circuit and won the first two USTA Pro Circuit titles of her comeback in 2010. She also qualified for Wimbledon and the US Open, where she reached the second round, and finished the season ranked in the Top 100 for the first time in 10 years.

Rebecca Marino (CAN)
Age: 20 (12/16/90)
Hometown: Vancouver, Canada
Ranking: 59

Marino, the top-ranked Canadian player, ascended to a career-high No. 58 in the world in March after advancing to the semifinals of the WTA event in Memphis, Tenn. She also made her Fed Cup debut this year, going 1-1 in singles play for Canada. Marino had a breakout season in 2010. She was named Tennis Canada’s Player of the Year after winning three events, including the back-to-back $50,000 USTA Pro Circuit events in Kansas City, Mo., and Troy, Ala., and reaching the second round of the US Open in her Grand Slam tournament main draw debut, falling, 7-6, 6-3, to Venus Williams. Marino was a top junior player, winning four events in 2007, including the Canadian Open Junior Championships.

Christina McHale
Age: 18 (5/11/92)
Hometown: Englewood Cliffs, N.J.
Ranking: 90

One of the rising stars in American tennis, McHale became the youngest player in the world’s Top 100 after reaching the third round of the WTA event in Indian Wells, where she upset Svetlana Kuznetsova. McHale was subsequently named to the U.S. Fed Cup team for the World Group Playoff versus Germany in April 2011, and she followed that by defeating Daniela Hantuchova en route to the quarterfinals at the Family Circle Cup in Charleston, S.C. Last year McHale won a USTA playoff to earn a main draw wild card into the French Open and reached the semifinals of the WTA event in Quebec City. She also upset Nadia Petrova en route to the fourth round at the Olympus US Open Series event in Cincinnati. In 2009, McHale became just the second USTA Girls’ 18s champion since this century to win her first round match at the US Open, and she also cracked the Top 10 in the world junior rankings.
Alexandra Mueller
Age: 23 (2/14/88)  Hometown: Abington, Pa.  Ranking: 413
Mueller won the inaugural US Open National Playoffs in 2010, defeating former world No. 51 Alina Jidkova, 6-0, 6-3, in the final, to earn a wild card into the 2010 US Open Qualifying Tournament. In all, Mueller captured three USTA Pro Circuit titles last year, including both the singles and doubles titles at the $10,000 event in Landisville, Pa., and she reached the semifinals at the $50,000 event in Boston. She also reached the doubles final of three $50,000 events—at Charlottesville, Va., and Raleigh, N.C., with Asha Rolle, and at Toronto with Brittany Augustine. Mueller first made waves in 2003, when she won the $10,000 ITF event in Mont Tremblant, Canada, at age 15, and played on the U.S. Junior Fed Cup team. She competed in the doubles main draw of the US Open in 2004 and 2007.

Asia Muhammad
Muhammad learned to play tennis at the Andre Agassi Boys and Girls Club in Las Vegas, where she trained to become a Top 10 junior. In 2009, she won the doubles title at the USTA Girls’ 18s National Championships with partner Christina McHale, earning a wild card into the women’s doubles main draw at the US Open. Also at the Open that year, Muhammad upset the top seed in the girls’ singles en route to the round of 16. Muhammad reached her first $50,000 final on the USTA Pro Circuit in 2008 in Las Vegas. Last year, she advanced to the quarterfinals of the $50,000 events in Carson, Calif., and Lexington, Ky., and won the doubles title at the $50,000 event in Troy, Ala. Muhammad’s father, Ronald, played basketball at USC, and her mother, Faye, was an All-American basketball player at Long Beach State.

Lilia Osterloh
Osterloh has been competing on the WTA tour for more than a decade, finishing in the year-end Top 100 each year from 1999 to 2001 and again in 2007. She achieved a career-high ranking of No. 41 in April 2001 after reaching the fourth round at Wimbledon and the US Open in 2000. On the WTA tour, Osterloh has advanced to the singles semifinals at three events and has captured two doubles titles. She won USTA Pro Circuit singles titles at the $75,000 event in Pittsburgh in 2005 and the $50,000 event in Waikoloa, Hawaii, in 2006. Overall, she has reached nine USTA Pro Circuit singles finals since 1996 and owns seven USTA Pro Circuit doubles titles. (She reached the doubles final of the $100,000 event in Midland, Mich., in 2010.) Osterloh is one of just four women to have won both the NCAA singles title (at Stanford) and USTA Girls’ 18s Championships.

Shenay Perry
Age: 26 (7/6/84)  Hometown: Coral Springs, Fla.  Ranking: 255
Perry reached the third round at the French Open and the fourth round at Wimbledon in 2006 to reach a career-best No. 40 in the world. Her rise up the rankings was halted, however, when she suffered a knee injury that kept her from playing singles events from mid-2007 to mid-2008. Healthy once again in 2009, Perry won $75,000 USTA Pro Circuit events in Dothan, Ala., and Albuquerque, N.M., and qualified for the US Open, where she advanced to the second round. She played consistently on the WTA tour in 2010, qualifying for the Australian Open and Wimbledon (reaching the second round at the All England Club) and competing in the French Open. For her career, Perry holds 15 USTA Pro Circuit titles (eight singles, seven doubles), and she has reached the quarterfinals or better four times on the WTA tour.

Alison Riske
Riske enjoyed a breakthrough 2010, moving steadily up the rankings and bearing down on the Top 100. Her year was highlighted by a semifinal showing at the Wimbledon tune-up event in Birmingham, England, where she defeated Ana Chakvetadze and Yanina Wickmayer before falling in three sets to Maria Sharapova. (Her showing in Birmingham earned Riske a wild card into Wimbledon.) After losing in the qualifying of the 2010 US Open, Riske returned to Circuit events and reached four consecutive ITF Circuit finals (all at $50,000 tournaments or better), winning three. Overall, she improved her ranking more than 750 places from the start of 2009 to the end of 2010, finishing the season at a career-best No. 115. As a junior, Riske rose to No. 2 in the USTA Girls’ 18s national standings and was a finalist at the 2007 USTA Girls’ 18s National Championships. She also served as a practice partner for the U.S.’s 2008 Fed Cup semifinal against Russia.
Shelby Rogers

Rogers burst onto the tennis scene in 2010. She won a pre-qualifying tournament early in the year to earn a qualifying wild card into the Family Circle Cup in Charleston, S.C., on the WTA tour, and advanced to her first USTA Pro Circuit final, at the $50,000 event in Indian Harbour Beach, Fla. She also reached the quarterfinals at the $75,000 event in Vancouver. This year, she has reached the quarterfinals in Plantation, Fla., and qualified for Pelham, Ala., both $25,000 tournaments on the USTA Pro Circuit. As a junior, Rogers won the USTA Girls’ 18s National Championships in 2010 to earn a wild card into the main draw of the US Open for her first appearance in a Grand Slam (in the either main draw or the juniors). She also reached the quarterfinals of the Easter Bowl in 2009.

Ahsha Rolle
Age: 26 (3/21/85)  Hometown: Miami Shores, Fla.  Ranking: 252

Rolle is off to a solid start to 2011. She won the first two doubles titles of the year with partner Mashona Washington, at the $25,000 USTA Pro Circuit events in Plantation, Fla., and Lutz, Fla. The duo also advanced to the semifinals of the $100,000 event in Midland, Mich., where Rolle reached the singles quarterfinals. Rolle’s breakthrough came at the 2007 US Open, where she upset then-world No. 18 Tatiana Golovin en route to the third round. That same year she qualified for the Australian Open and reached the third round at the WTA event in Indian Wells. In 2008, Rolle qualified for the Olympus US Open Series event in Los Angeles and won a singles match as a member of the U.S. Fed Cup team in the World Group semifinals against Russia. She is a 10-time champion on the USTA Pro Circuit (three singles, nine doubles).

Abigail Spears
Age: 29 (7/12/81)  Hometown: San Diego  Ranking: 334

Spears has played extensively on the WTA tour throughout her career, having advanced to the singles final in Quebec City in 2004 and the third round of the Australian Open in 2005, when she reached a career-high singles ranking of No. 66. She has also won five tour-level doubles titles, one each year from 2003 to 2005 and two in 2009, when she climbed to No. 40 in the individual doubles rankings. On the USTA Pro Circuit, Spears holds 16 doubles titles spanning 2001 to 2010, which ranks fifth all-time, with her last title coming at the $50,000 event in Kansas City, Mo., last October. She also captured her first USTA Pro Circuit singles title since 2004 last year, at the $25,000 event in Surprise, Ariz. Spears played one season of college tennis at UCLA (1999-2000) and, as a junior, won USTA Girls’ 18s doubles titles in 1998 and 1999 with different partners.

Sloane Stephens
Age: 18 (3/20/93)  Hometown: Lauderhill, Fla.  Ranking: 170

Stephens was one of the stars of the world junior circuit in 2010, winning the girls’ doubles titles (with Timea Babos) at the French Open, Wimbledon and the US Open. Stephens also reached the singles quarterfinals or better at the same three junior Slams, including the semifinals in Flushing Meadows. In addition, she won her first professional tour-level match at the WTA event in Indian Wells, Calif. This year, Stephens again advanced to the second round in Indian Wells, where she lost to world No. 1 Caroline Wozniacki, and also qualified for the WTA events in Miami and Charleston, S.C. Stephens climbed to No. 5 in the world junior rankings in 2009 and helped lead the U.S. to the 2008 Junior Fed Cup title. She also teamed with Robert Kendrick to upset the No. 1 seeds in mixed doubles at the 2008 US Open.

Alexandra Stevenson
Age: 30 (12/21/80)  Hometown: San Diego  Ranking: 247

Stevenson first made waves in professional tennis more than a decade ago, when she became the first female qualifier in Wimbledon history to reach the semifinals. She was ranked in the year-end Top 100 each year from 1999 to 2003 and peaked at No. 18 in 2002. Injuries drove her rankings into the 600s in 2005, but Stevenson rebounded to climb back into the Top 200 in 2009, advancing to the final at the $50,000 event in Carson, Calif., for her best result on the USTA Pro Circuit since winning the $50,000 event in Midland, Mich., in 1998. This year, Stevenson, the daughter of basketball Hall of Famer Julius Erving, qualified for the WTA events in Memphis, Tenn., and Charleston, S.C., and also qualified and reached the quarterfinals of the $100,000 USTA Pro Circuit event in Midland, Mich.
Ajla Tomljanovic (CRO)
Age: 17 (7/5/93)  Hometown: Zagreb, Croatia  Rank: 173

Tomljanovic rose more than 150 places in the WTA rankings in 2010, her first full year of solely professional events, largely on the strength of her USTA Pro Circuit results. She opened the season by qualifying and winning the $25,000 event in Plantation, Fla., and in April reached the final at another $25,000 event, in Pelham, Ala. She then reached the round of 16 at the WTA event in Memphis. She won her second career USTA Pro Circuit title earlier this year at the $25,000 event in Clearwater, Fla. Tomljanovic peaked at No. 4 in the junior world rankings in 2009, when she reached the semifinals of the Dunlop Orange Bowl and won the doubles title at the Australian Open with American Christina McHale. She made her debut in Fed Cup play last year, going 2-1 in singles for Croatia.

Coco Vandeweghe
Age: 19 (12/6/91)  Hometown: Rancho Mirage, Calif.  Ranking: 89

Vandeweghe broke into the Top 100 for the first time in her career earlier this year after qualifying for the Australian Open and reaching the quarterfinals of the WTA event in Memphis. (She also competed in the main draw of the Australian Open and the US Open in 2010.) The 2008 US Open girls’ singles champion, Vandeweghe enjoyed her best year as a professional last year. She defeated five Top 100 players to qualify and advance to the quarterfinals of the $2 million event in Tokyo and also reached the quarterfinals at the Olympus US Open Series event in San Diego, upsetting Vera Zvonareva en route. In addition, Vandeweghe won her first USTA Pro Circuit title at the $50,000 event in Carson, Calif., and was named to the U.S. Fed Cup team for the final against Italy. Vandeweghe’s mom, Tauna, was an Olympian in both swimming and volleyball, and her uncle is former NBA star Kiki Vandeweghe.

Mashona Washington
Age: 34 (5/31/76)  Hometown: Houston  Ranking: 397

Seven years after she peaked at No. 50 in the world in the WTA singles rankings, Washington remains an elite doubles player and a top contender on the USTA Pro Circuit. She also holds 13 career USTA Pro Circuit doubles titles, including back-to-back $25,000 crowns in Florida this year in Plantation and Lutz with Asha Rolle. In 2004, she advanced to the quarterfinals at the Olympus US Open Series events in Stanford, Calif., and New Haven, Conn., where she defeated then-No. 7 Maria Sharapova, and a year later she reached the third round at Wimbledon. Her rise was halted by a knee injury suffered in 2006 while playing for the U.S. Fed Cup team; due to the injury, she did not compete in singles again for more than a year. Washington returned to the winner’s circle in 2008, qualifying and taking the title at the $50,000 event in Carson, Calif., for second career USTA Pro Circuit singles title.

Ashley Weinhold
Age: 21 (6/20/89)  Hometown: Austin, Texas  Ranking: 259

Weinhold is off to the best start of her professional career in 2011. In February, she won her second career USTA Pro Circuit singles title at the $25,000 event in Rancho Mirage, Calif., and one month later she upset 2009 US Open quarterfinalist Melanie Oudin in the first round of the $25,000 event in Pelham, Ala. Weinhold first made her mark on the USTA Pro Circuit by winning the 2006 singles title at the $10,000 event in Southlake, Texas, and the following year she won the 2007 USTA Girls’ 18s National Championships to earn a wild card into main draw of the US Open. Weinhold served as a practice partner for the U.S. Fed Cup team in 2008 and played for the World TeamTennis St. Louis Aces in 2009. In addition to her two singles titles, she has won five doubles titles on the USTA Pro Circuit.

Caitlin Whoriskey

Whoriskey was named the 2010 Intercollegiate Tennis Association’s National Senior Player of the Year for Division I women’s tennis after leading the University of Tennessee to the quarterfinals of the NCAA Tournament for the first time in eight seasons. Whoriskey was named to the USTA Summer Collegiate Team last year and in 2009, posting promising results. In 2010, she won back-to-back doubles titles at $10,000 events in Cleveland and Mount Pleasant, S.C., and also reached the doubles final of the $25,000 event in Rock Hill, S.C. In singles, she advanced to the quarterfinals of three $10,000 events last summer, and in 2009 advanced to her first career USTA Pro Circuit singles final at the $10,000 event in St. Joseph, Mo., where she lost to fellow collegiate All-American Irina Falconi.
