The USTA Futures of Laguna Niguel is back on the USTA Pro Circuit calendar after a one-year hiatus. The city hosted a Futures event from 1999 through 2009. It is the last of three consecutive USTA Pro Circuit Futures events held in California following the US Open.

This year’s tournament is expected to feature former world No. 2 junior Brian Baker, whose promising career has been hampered by three hip operations and elbow surgery. Inactive from 2008 through 2010, the 26-year-old returned to the USTA Pro Circuit in July, winning eight matches to clinch the Pittsburgh Futures singles title as a qualifier. During his junior career, Baker defeated five current or former Top 10 pros: Gael Monfils, Tomas Berdych, Jo-Wilfried Tsonga, Stanislas Wawrinka and Marcos Baghdatis.

Also expected to compete in Laguna Niguel is University of Tennessee graduate John-Patrick Smith of Australia, who beat out the likes of Heisman Trophy winner and NFL No. 1 draft pick Cam Newton to win the 2011 SEC Male Athlete of the Year award. An ITA All-American in singles and doubles all four years he played at Tennessee, Smith reached the 2008 NCAA Division I singles final and the 2009 and 2010 NCAA Division I doubles finals. He won his first pro singles title in July as a qualifier at the USTA Pro Circuit Futures event in Tulsa, Okla.

Also expected in the main draw are: 19-year-old American Denis Kudla, the 2010 US Open boys’ singles runner-up who reached his first ATP World Tour quarterfinal at the grass-court event in Newport, R.I., in July; former world No. 88 Roko Karanusic of Croatia, who has won three ATP Challenger Tour titles in his career and reached the second round of a Grand Slam tournament four times, most recently at the 2009 Australian Open; Artem Sitak of New Zealand, who defeated two-time Olympic gold medalist Nicolas Massu to qualify for the Olympus US Open Series event at Washington this August; and Belarusian Davis Cup player Siarhei Betau, who won three medals for his country at the 2011 World University Games in Shenzhen, China.

Among the players scheduled to compete in qualifying are: 18-year-old Sean Berman, who reached the final of the 2010 USTA Pro Circuit Men’s Futures Returns to Laguna Niguel

Denis Kudla was the 2010 US Open boys’ singles runner-up and reached his first ATP World Tour quarterfinal in Newport, R.I., this July.
Australian Open boys' singles tournament; 2010 US Open junior singles quarterfinalist Dennis Novikov; 2011 French Open junior doubles finalist Shane Vinsant; recent University of Hawaii graduate Dennis Lajola, the 2011 WAC Player of the Year; and Pepperdine junior Mousheg Hovhannisyan, a singles and doubles semifinalist at the 2009 USTA Boys' 18 National Championships.

Also expected to play qualifying in Laguna Niguel are: former Top 100 doubles player Brian Battistone, a 32-year-old American who uses a two-handled tennis racquet and hits a volleyball-like jump serve; Sanam Singh of India, a two-time ITA All-American at the University of Virginia who teamed with current world No. 64 Somdev Devvarman to win the gold medal in doubles at the 2010 Asian Games; and former University of Florida standout Alexandre Lacroix of France, who reached the semifinals of the USTA Pro Circuit Futures event two weeks ago in Claremont, Calif.

Several current ATP World Tour stars have found success in Laguna Niguel, including 2009 singles and doubles champion Ryan Harrison, a 19-year-old American who broke into the Top 70 of the world rankings this summer after reaching the semifinals of Olympus US Open Series events at Atlanta and Los Angeles. In January, Harrison won his first Challenger singles title at the $50,000 USTA Pro Circuit event in Honolulu. 2005 singles champion Benjamin Becker, a former Baylor University All-American from Germany, defeated Andre Agassi in the final match of Agassi’s career at the 2006 US Open. 2002 singles champion Rajeev Ram has won six career ATP doubles titles and swept the singles and doubles titles at the 2009 ATP grass-court tournament at Newport. 2003 doubles champions Scott Lipsky and David Martin are former collegiate teammates at Stanford who went on to reach four tour-level doubles finals together, winning the 2008 ATP indoor event at San Jose. Martin won the inaugural mixed doubles title of the US Open National Playoffs this year.

USTA PRO CIRCUIT

With 90-plus tournaments hosted annually throughout the country and prize money ranging from $10,000 to $100,000, the USTA Pro Circuit is the pathway to the US Open and tour-level competition for aspiring tennis players and a frequent battleground for established professionals. The USTA launched its Pro Circuit 32 years ago to provide players with the opportunity to gain professional ranking points, and it has since grown to become the largest developmental tennis circuit in the world, offering more than $2.5 million in prize money. Last year, more than 1,000 men and women from more than 70 countries competed in cities nationwide. Maria Sharapova, Andy Roddick, Caroline Wozniacki, James Blake, Justine Henin, Andy Murray and Sam Querrey are among today's top stars who began their careers on the USTA Pro Circuit.

The USTA Pro Circuit helped launch the careers of two young Americans—Melanie Oudin and John Isner. Oudin began 2009 ranked No. 177, but climbed the rankings by winning back-to-back $50,000 USTA Pro Circuit events. With a boost in confidence, she reached the fourth round of Wimbledon and the quarterfinals of the 2009 US Open. She peaked at world No. 31 in 2010 and has been a crucial player on the U.S. Fed Cup team. Isner joined the USTA Pro Circuit after turning pro in 2007 and jump-started the best season of his career by winning the Tallahassee Challenger in 2009. Subsequently, he reached the semifinals at two Olympus US Open Series events and upset Andy Roddick en route to the fourth round at the 2009 US Open. Last year, Isner captured his first tour title, reached three tour finals, and also won the longest match in history at Wimbledon. He finished 2010 ranked in the Top 20.

10 AND UNDER TENNIS

10 and Under Tennis is a nationwide USTA initiative that uses the QuickStart Tennis play format and takes a better approach to introducing kids to the game. Balls are lower in compression, so they are easier to hit; racquets are sized for small hands; and the courts are smaller and easier to cover. Full-sized courts can now be reconfigured to accommodate up to six 36-foot courts. In turn, kids learn, rally, play and compete right from the start, and the game becomes more accessible and fun for them. For more information, visit www.10andundertennis.com.

NJTL

Cities across the country participate in the USTA/National Junior Tennis and Learning (NJTL) network, a nationwide network of community tennis organizations seeking to develop the character of young people through both tennis and education. Founded by Arthur Ashe in 1969, more than 550 registered chapters/programs exist throughout the nation with more than 220,000 participants ages 6-18, making NJTL one of the USTA’s largest community-based initiatives.

PLAYER DEVELOPMENT

The USTA Player Development program identifies and develops the next generation of American champions by surrounding the top junior players and young pros with the resources, facilities and coaching they need to reach their maximum potential. The Player Development program is based at the USTA Training Center Headquarters in Boca Raton, Fla., and also utilizes Training Centers in Carson, Calif., and Flushing, N.Y., as well as a series of Certified Regional Training Centers located throughout the continental United States.

US OPEN NATIONAL PLAYOFFS

The USTA launched the US Open National Playoffs last year, making the US Open “open” to anyone age 14+ and of all skill levels. This year, more than 1,200 players competed in 16 Sectional Qualifying Tournaments nationwide for a 2011 US Open Qualifying Tournament wild card. A mixed doubles element was also added this year, where the winning team won a main draw mixed doubles wild card. Blake Strode, 24, of St. Louis, defended his US Open National Playoffs men's title this year and Robin Anderson, 18, of Matawan, N.J., won the women's wild card. David Martin and Christina Fusano won the mixed doubles tournament.

 All players American unless otherwise noted. * All information as of May 30, 2011
Kevin Anderson (RSA)
Age: 25 (5/18/86)  Hometown: Johannesburg, South Africa  Ranking: 35

Anderson ascended to a career-high No. 33 in April after a strong start to 2011. He began the year by winning his first career ATP World Tour singles title in his hometown of Johannesburg, South Africa. He followed that result by reaching the quarterfinals of the ATP event in Delray Beach, Fla., and the ATP Masters Series event in Miami, where he upset John Isner and Nikolay Davydenko en route. Last year Anderson reached the third round of the 2010 US Open for his best Grand Slam result, qualified for four ATP World Tour Masters Series events and reached the semifinals of the Olympus US Open Series event in Atlanta. Anderson, a four-time USTA Pro Circuit singles champion, played collegiately for the University of Illinois, where he won the 2006 NCAA doubles title with Ryan Rowe; the duo made a return trip to the final in 2007.

Carsten Ball (AUS)
Age: 23 (6/20/87)  Hometown: Newport Beach, Calif.  Ranking: 183

Ball, who was born and resides in California but competes for Australia, peaked at a career-high No. 108 in July 2010 after winning his first career USTA Pro Circuit Challenger singles title in Lexington, Ky. In addition, Ball won his first career ATP World Tour doubles title last year in Newport, R.I., with countryman Chris Guccione. The duo also reached the doubles quarterfinals of the 2009 US Open and the round of 16 at the 2011 Australian Open, in addition to the doubles final at the $15,000 USTA Pro Circuit event in Oklahoma City. Ball advanced to his first ATP World Tour singles final at the 2009 LA Tennis Open, an Olympus US Open Series event, where he lost to Sam Querrey in the final. Ball holds five USTA Pro Circuit singles titles and 14 doubles titles, which ranks ninth all-time.

Brian Battistone
Age: 31 (8/10/79)  Hometown: Las Vegas  Ranking: 98 (doubles)

Battistone has one of the more unique hitting styles in tennis. He uses a wishbone-shaped, double-handled racquet that allows him to hit forehands off both wings and employs a volleyball-style jump serve that has been clocked at 139 mph. Battistone turned pro in his late 20s, in 2007, teaming with brother Dann to compete on the USTA Pro Circuit in doubles. The brothers teamed to win three doubles titles, including two at the Challenger level, and last year Brian added two more Challenger-level USTA Pro Circuit doubles titles (one each with Ryler DeHeart and Nicholas Monroe) and reached the doubles final of six ITF Circuit events in Europe. Prior to turning pro, Battistone served a two-year Mormon mission, traveling to Rio de Janeiro to work with Brazil’s poor.

Alex Bogomolov Jr.

Bogomolov Jr. is recapturing the form that made him a Top 100 threat before a wrist injury sidelined him in October 2008. Already this year, Bogomolov qualified and upset world No. 4 Andy Murray to reach the third round of the ATP Masters Series event in Miami, and qualified for the French Open. He also won his seventh career USTA Pro Circuit title at the $50,000 Challenger in Dallas in March. In May 2009, following the recuperation from the wrist injury, Bogomolov qualified and advanced to the quarterfinals of the Olympus US Open Series event in Indianapolis and, in 2010, won his first USTA Pro Circuit tournament in three years by capturing the singles title at the season-ending $50,000 Challenger in Champaign, Ill. Born in Moscow but raised in the U.S., Bogomolov won the USTA Boys’ 18s championship in 2001 and received a wild card into the US Open each year from 2001 to 2004.

Devin Britton
Age: 20 (3/17/91)  Hometown: Brandon, Miss.  Ranking: 769

Britton burst onto the tennis scene in 2008, reaching the US Open boys’ singles final as a wild card. He subsequently enrolled at the University of Mississippi in January 2009 and, at the age of 18 years, 2 months, became the youngest man ever to win the NCAA singles title. Britton’s NCAA title earned him a main draw wild card into the 2009 US Open, where he pushed five-time defending champion Roger Federer in a 6-1, 6-3, 7-5 defeat. Also in 2009, he served as a practice partner for the 2009 quarterfinal Davis Cup tie between the United States and Croatia. Britton moved full time into professional events in 2010 and reached his first career USTA Pro Circuit singles final at the $10,000 Futures in Costa Mesa, Calif. This year he won his first USTA Pro Circuit doubles title at the $15,000 Futures in Brownsville, Texas, with Gregory Ouellette.
Chase Buchanan
Age: 19 (6/4/91)  Hometown: Columbus, Ohio  Ranking: 788

Buchanan capped an outstanding junior career in 2009 by winning the USTA Boys’ 18s National Championships and reaching the US Open boys’ singles final. He also made his Grand Slam main draw debut that year at the US Open, having earned a wild card via his victory at the USTA Boys’ 18s. As a collegian, Buchanan helped lead Ohio State to the NCAA team final in 2009 and was named the 2010 Big Ten Athlete of the Year—the first sophomore in Ohio State history to earn the conference’s top tennis honor. This season he was named the Big Ten Athlete of the Week four times. Buchanan won his first career pro title in 2008 at the USTA Pro Circuit $10,000 Futures in Vero Beach, Fla., and he has twice reached the doubles final at the USTA Pro Circuit $10,000 Futures in Rochester, N.Y., with Bryan Koniecko, in 2009 and 2010.

Andrea Collarini
Age: 19 (01/31/92)  Hometown: Boca Raton, Fla.  Ranking: 638

Collarini, who was born in New York and grew up in Argentina, returned to the U.S. last year to train at the USTA Training Center Headquarters in Boca Raton, Fla., and made an immediate splash, reaching the 2010 French Open boys’ singles final. He followed that up by reaching the round of 16 in singles and the quarterfinals in doubles at the 2010 US Open juniors. He peaked at No. 5 in the world junior rankings in 2009, when he won three ITF junior events. On the professional level, Collarini reached the quarterfinals or better at 10 Futures events in 2010, including seven on the USTA Pro Circuit. He also captured his first career USTA Pro Circuit doubles title last year at the $10,000 Futures in Orange Park, Fla., with Denis Kudla. So far this year Collarini has reached the quarterfinals at the $10,000 event in Palm Coast, Fla., and has qualified for multiple events.

Lester Cook
Age: 27 (4/24/84)  Hometown: Marina del Rey, Calif.  Ranking: 256

Cook cracked the Top 200 for this first time in his career in October 2010 behind strong results on the USTA Pro Circuit, including a singles runner-up showing at the $50,000 Challenger in Tulsa, Okla., and eight appearances in the quarterfinals or better. Also last year, he reached the doubles semifinals of six Challengers, including five with David Martin. Cook won his fourth career USTA Pro Circuit singles title at the $15,000 Futures in McAllen, Texas, in 2009 and also captured three doubles titles, which boosted him to third place on the 2009 USTA Pro Circuit men’s prize money list. (He placed sixth in 2010.) Cook competed in the qualifying draws of all four Grand Slams in 2010 and, as a collegian, was a three-time All-American at Texas A&M.

Jordan Cox
Age: 19 (1/7/92)  Hometown: Duluth, Ga.  Ranking: 539

Cox made solid strides in his first full year as a professional in 2010 and has continued his work this year. In 2010, he won his first professional title at a $15,000 event in Korea and posted solid results on the USTA Pro Circuit, reaching the semifinals or better at three events in the latter half of the year, including the final at the $15,000 Futures in Mansfield, Texas. So far this year Cox has played a mix of ATP events (largely in the qualifying) and USTA Pro Circuit tournaments, reaching the quarterfinals at the Futures in McAllen, Texas, in March. Cox posted his breakout season in the junior ranks in 2009. He reached the boys’ singles final at Wimbledon and the quarterfinals at the Easter Bowl. In doubles, he won the junior title at the Wimbledon warm-up in Roehampton and reached the quarterfinals at the French Open, Wimbledon and US Open.

Ryler DeHeart
Age: 27 (3/1/84)  Hometown: Champaign, Ill.  Ranking: 380

DeHeart reached a career-high ranking of No. 174 in May 2010 after reaching the final of an Challenger in Ecuador and qualifying for the ATP World Tour event in San Jose, Calif. He also broke into the Top 125 in doubles after advancing to the finals of nine Challengers in 2010, including six on the USTA Pro Circuit. DeHeart, who has played sparingly thus far in 2011, reached the second round of the 2008 US Open as a qualifier, losing a night match to Rafael Nadal in his lone Grand Slam main draw appearance. DeHeart is a four-time singles champion and a nine-time doubles champion on the USTA Pro Circuit, as well as a two-time collegiate All-American. In fact, DeHeart finished his college career as the all-time winningest singles player in University of Illinois history and was a member of the 2003 NCAA championship team that included current ATP pros Amer Delic and Rajeev Ram.

* All information as of May 30, 2011
PLAYERS TO WATCH

Amer Delic (BIH)
Age: 28 (6/30/82)  Hometown: Jacksonville, Fla.  Ranking: 262

Delic is working to regain his form following a knee injury that forced him out of action from July 2009 to August 2010. (He used his time away to complete his college degree at the University of Illinois.) Delic climbed to No. 60 in the world in 2007 and, in 2009, reached the third round of the Australian Open. Delic has competed in singles and doubles at all four Grand Slams, reaching the second round or better in singles at all but Roland Garros and advancing to the US Open doubles round of 16 in 2005 and 2007. Delic is a six-time USTA Pro Circuit singles champion and led the Pro Circuit in total prize money in 2006. As a collegian, he won the 2003 NCAA singles title and led Illinois to its first NCAA team title. He recently switched his country affiliation from the U.S. back to his native Bosnia-Herzegovina; he won an ITF-level tournament in his home country earlier this year.

Somdev Devvarman (IND)

Devvarman peaked at a career-high No. 66 in May after reaching the round of 16 at the ATP Masters Series event in Indian Wells, Calif., and the third round of the Masters event in Miami the following week. Last year he won his first singles title of the year at an ITF-level event in Turkey and became the first Indian player ever to capture the gold medal in singles at the 2010 Asian Games, where he also won the doubles gold medal. Devvarman reached his first career ATP World Tour singles final in 2009 in Chennai, India, and qualified for the 2009 US Open, advancing to the second round. (He also competed in the main draw of the French Open and US Open in 2010, and of the Australian Open in 2011.) He played collegiately for the University of Virginia, winning back-to-back NCAA singles titles in 2007 and 2008. He is a member of India's Davis Cup team, having helped lead India back into the World Group this year.

Alexander Domijan

A top collegiate player, Domijan found promising results on the USTA Pro Circuit in 2010 as he transitioned from junior to professional events, reaching the quarterfinals or better at eight Futures events. In his career, the 6-foot-7 freshman at the University of Virginia has reached two USTA Pro Circuit singles finals, including at the Futures event in Godfrey, Ill., in 2009. Domijan was dominant on the ITF World Junior Circuit in 2008, putting together a 16-match winning streak that saw him win the Pan-American Championships and the Eddie Herr International before losing in the semifinals of the Dunlop Orange Bowl. He continued that momentum into 2009, spending much of the year as the No. 1 player in the USTA Boys’ 18s national standings. As a standout player at the No. 1-ranked University of Virginia, Domijan has been ranked in the Top 5 of the ITA rankings for the entire 2011 season.

Brendan Evans

A former standout junior, Evans has made a steady climb up the professional ladder. Last year he posted his best Grand Slam result, qualifying and reaching the second round of Wimbledon in his first Grand Slam main draw appearance. He also reached back-to-back doubles finals at ITF Circuit events in Canada in September. In 2009, Evans advanced to the quarterfinals at the tour-level event in Newport, R.I., won two Challengers overseas, and reached the final at the $50,000 USTA Pro Circuit Challenger in Dallas. Evans has extensively played doubles with American Scott Oudsema; the pair has combined to win three of Evans’ five career doubles titles on the USTA Pro Circuit and, in 2004, teamed to capture three of the four Grand Slam junior doubles titles (all but the French Open). That same year Evans rose to No. 4 in the world junior rankings.

Jan-Michael Gambill

A former Top 10 player, Gambill has been working his way back into form on the USTA Pro Circuit, competing in a limited number of events during his comeback from shoulder problems. Following a prolonged layoff, Gambill returned to the court in late 2009 and, last year, qualified for the $50,000 Challenger in Honolulu and reached the quarterfinals of the Futures in Irvine, Calif. Previously, he ascended to a career-high of No. 14 in the world in June 2001 and won three ATP World Tour singles titles—two in Delray Beach, Fla., and one in Scottsdale, Ariz., where he defeated Pete Sampras and Lleyton Hewitt. He also reached the quarterfinals at Wimbledon in 2000 before falling to Sampras and was a member of the U.S. Davis Cup team in 2000 and 2001. Off the court, Gambill was listed as one of People magazine’s “50 Most Beautiful People in the World” in 2000.
Robby Ginepri
Age: 28 (10/7/82)
Hometown: Kennesaw, Ga.
Ranking: 184

Ginepri returned to the USTA Pro Circuit last year in an effort to regain the form that brought him to No. 15 in the world in the mid-2000s, reaching the final at the $50,000 Challenger in Tallahassee, Fla. However, an arm injury sidetracked him once again following the 2010 US Open through the middle of 2011. In his career, Ginepri has reached the fourth round or better at all four Grand Slams, most recently at the 2010 French Open, where he upset Sam Querrey in the first round. His best Grand Slam performance came in 2005, when he advanced to the semifinals at the US Open before falling in five sets to Andre Agassi. Ginepri played for the U.S. Davis Cup team in 2004, and in 2009 he won the Olympus US Open Series event in Indianapolis for his third ATP singles title (in addition to five USTA Pro Circuit singles titles).

Ryan Harrison
Age: 19 (5/7/92)
Hometown: Bradenton, Fla.
Ranking: 119

Harrison ascended to a career-best No. 119 in May 2011 after reaching the round of 16 in Indian Wells, where he upset three players ranked in the Top 50 before falling to Roger Federer in two close sets. Also this year, Harrison won his first Challenger singles title at the $50,000 USTA Pro Circuit event in Honolulu, where he also won the doubles title. Harrison was one of the breakout stars of 2010. He won a USTA wild card playoff to earn a spot in the main draw of the 2010 Australian Open (he repeated the feat in 2011), reached the quarterfinals of the ATP event in Newport, R.I., and then qualified for the US Open, knocking off 15 seed Ivan Ljubicic in the first round and stretching Top 40 player Sergiy Stakhovsky to a fifth-set tie-break in the second. Harrison first made waves in 2008 when he became the third-youngest player since 1990 to win a main-draw ATP match (bested only by Rafael Nadal and Richard Gasquet). Harrison’s father, Pat, played collegiate tennis at Oklahoma State and Mississippi before a brief pro career. Harrison’s 16-year-old brother, Christian, is a junior standout and also competes on the USTA Pro Circuit.

Robert Kendrick
Age: 31 (11/15/79)
Hometown: Orlando, Fla.
Ranking: 87

Kendrick finished first on the 2010 USTA Pro Circuit prize money list, winning both the singles and doubles title at the $50,000 Challenger in Charlottesville, Va., and advancing to the singles finals at four additional events. Currently third all-time on the USTA Pro Circuit with 12 singles titles, Kendrick has competed in the main draw of all four Grand Slams in his career, reaching the second round at all but the Australian Open. This year he reached the quarterfinals of the ATP event in Memphis, Tenn., as a qualifier, defeating former world No. 4 James Blake en route. In doubles, Kendrick advanced to the 2007 US Open doubles quarterfinals (with Sam Querrey) and won the ATP title in Newport, R.I., in 2006; he also owns 12 career USTA Pro Circuit doubles titles. As a collegian, Kendrick earned All-America honors at the University of Washington in 1999 and at Pepperdine University in 2000.

Kevin Kim
Age: 32 (7/26/78)
Hometown: Newport Coast, Calif.
Ranking: 308

Kim has been remarkably consistent throughout his career, finishing in the Top 200 eight of the past 11 years and in the Top 125 five of the last seven. He peaked at No. 63 in 2005 after advancing to the third round of the Australian Open. In 2009, he qualified for the ATP World Tour events at both Indian Wells and Miami, reaching the second round in Miami before losing to Roger Federer. He holds nine career singles title on the USTA Pro Circuit and reached the singles quarterfinals of four Challengers last year. As an All-American at UCLA (1996-97), Kim led the Bruins to a USTA/ITA National Team Indoor title and the NCAA semifinals. He was the USTA Boys’ 18s champion in 1996, defeating Bob Bryan in the final, and also reached the doubles final with Michael Russell (falling to Bob and Mike Bryan).

Bradley Klahn
Age: 20 (8/20/90)
Hometown: Poway, Calif.
Ranking: 804

A former No. 1 in the USTA Boys’ 18s rankings, Klahn carried his junior success into the collegiate ranks in 2010. He won the NCAA Division I singles title as a sophomore at Stanford to earn a wild card into the main draw of the 2010 US Open, where he pushed Sam Querrey to four sets in the opening round. (He also teamed with Tim Smyczek to win a round in doubles in Flushing Meadows.) In addition to his singles title, Klahn reached the semifinals of the NCAA doubles tournament to earn All-America honors in both disciplines. During his junior season, he reached the semifinals of the ITA All-American Championships and finished the regular season at No. 9 in the collegiate rankings. On the USTA Pro Circuit, Klahn reached the quarterfinals at the Challenger in Binghamton, N.Y., in 2010 and reached the final of the Futures in Claremont, Calif., in 2009.
Austin Krajicek
Age: 20 (6/16/90)
Hometown: Brandon, Fla.
Ranking: 629

A standout at Texas A&M, Krajicek won the 2011 NCAA doubles title with Jeff Dadamo. He was also named to the 2010 USTA Summer Collegiate Team and finished with his two best USTA Pro Circuit singles results—a runner-up showing in Decatur, Ill., and an appearance in the semifinals at Godfrey, Ill., both $10,000 Futures. Krajicek has also captured two Futures doubles titles, in Godfrey in 2008 and in Loomis, Calif., in 2009, both with Texas A&M teammate Conor Pollock. In November 2010, Krajicek and Pollock captured the doubles title at the USTA/ITA National Indoor Intercollegiate Championships, and Krajicek finished the 2010-11 regular season ranked No. 18 in singles. As a junior player, Krajicek won the 2008 USTA Boys’ 18s National Championships to earn a wild card into the main draw at the 2008 US Open. He also reached the doubles final at the 2006 US Open. Austin is a cousin of former Wimbledon champion Richard Krajicek.

Denis Kudla
Age: 18 (08/17/92)
Hometown: Arlington, Va.
Ranking: 422

Kudla had the strongest season of his young career in 2010, winning his first professional singles title at the USTA Pro Circuit $15,000 Futures in Austin, Texas, and reaching the boys’ singles final at the US Open. Kudla also recorded his first career ATP World Tour win in Newport, R.I., as a wild card, and was named a U.S. Davis Cup practice partner for the first round tie in Serbia. Kudla rose to No. 3 in the world junior rankings in early 2010 before moving on to the USTA Pro Circuit, where he captured back-to-back Futures doubles titles in May. (He also advanced to two USTA Pro Circuit doubles finals following the US Open.) So far this year Kudla, who turned pro in 2010, has reached the round of 16 at three Challengers and competed in the main draw of the ATP event in San Jose, Calif.

Alex Kuznetsov
Age: 24 (2/5/87)
Hometown: Tampa, Fla.
Ranking: 208

Kuznetsov was born in Kiev, Ukraine, where his grandfather was a handball champion. A runner-up at the 2004 junior French Open, the former world junior No. 4 suffered a broken leg that required surgery following a 2005 car accident, sideling him for the entire summer. He rebounded to win his first USTA Pro Circuit singles title at the $75,000 Challenger in Aptos, Calif., in 2006 and, in 2007, he won his first Grand Slam match at the Australian Open and reached the round of 16 in doubles at the US Open with Jesse Levine. Kuznetsov returned to the Top 200 earlier this year after advancing to the singles and doubles finals at the Honolulu Challenger as well as qualifying for the ATP event in San Jose, Calif. Overall, Kuznetsov has reached eight finals (winning two Challenger titles) on the USTA Pro Circuit and claimed six doubles titles.

Jesse Levine
Age: 23 (10/15/87)
Hometown: Boca Raton, Fla.
Ranking: 318

Levine had his best showing at a Grand Slam at Wimbledon in 2009, defeating then-world No. 24 Marat Safin and advancing to the third round. He also reached the quarterfinals at the ATP World Tour event in Newport, R.I., that year, the second round at two Olympus US Open Series events and the second round at the US Open. In 2010, Levine qualified for Wimbledon and reached the final of the USTA Pro Circuit Challenger in Lexington, Ky., and, this year, he has qualified for the main draw of the ATP event in San Jose, Calif., and reached the semifinals of a Futures event in his native Canada. As a collegian, Levine compiled a 24-1 record as a freshman at the University of Florida in 2007 and immediately turned pro. He went on to win back-to-back USTA Pro Circuit Challengers in Nashville, Tenn., and Champaign, Ill., in late 2007. That same year, Levine spent 10 weeks training with Roger Federer in Dubai.

Michael McClune
Age: 21 (8/22/89)
Hometown: Irvine, Calif.
Ranking: 635

McClune is on the comeback trail from a hip injury kept him out of action last year from March through the US Open. He returned by reaching the quarterfinals at the USTA Pro Circuit Challenger in Tulsa in September 2010 in his first tournament back, and so far this year he has played a mix of USTA Pro Circuit events—reaching the round of 16 at the Challenger in Tallahassee, Fla.—and ATP qualifying draws. McClune won the USTA Boys’ 18s singles crown to earn a wild card into the main draw of the 2007 US Open and won the first two USTA Pro Circuit singles titles of his career that same year. In 2008, he reached the second round of the US Open in doubles, served as a practice partner for the U.S. Davis Cup team and trained with Roger Federer in Dubai. He holds five USTA Pro Circuit singles titles, with his last one coming in 2009.
Nicholas Monroe
Age: 29 (4/12/82) Hometown: Chapel Hill, N.C. Ranking: 278

Monroe has had a strong start to the 2011 USTA Pro Circuit season, winning his first USTA Pro Circuit title since 2007 at the $15,000 Futures in Brownsville, Texas, and capturing his seventh doubles title at the $15,000 Futures in Oklahoma City. In 2010, he qualified for six $50,000 Challengers and reached the semifinals of back-to-back Futures events in Loomis, Calif., and Davis, Calif., as well as the semifinals of the $50,000 Challenger in Knoxville, Tenn., as a qualifier. As a collegian, Monroe was a two-time All-American at the University of North Carolina (2003-04), reaching the quarterfinals of the NCAA Tournament in 2004. In 2003, he received the Intercollegiate Tennis Association's Arthur Ashe Regional Sportsmanship and Leadership Award for the Mideast region.

Kei Nishikori (JPN)

Nishikori returned to the USTA Pro Circuit in 2010 to work his way back from an elbow injury and had great success, winning four Challenger titles—the most of any player on the USTA Pro Circuit last year. He also reached the third round of the US Open as a qualifier. This year, Nishikori, working with Brad Gilbert, has continued to climb in the rankings, cracking the Top 50 after reaching the third round of the Australian Open, the second round of the French Open, and the final of the ATP clay court event in Houston, defeating Mardy Fish en route. In 2008, Nishikori became the first Japanese man ever to advance to the fourth round at the US Open and the first to crack the Top 100 since Shuzo Matsuoka in 1995. For his efforts, Nishikori was named the 2008 ATP Newcomer of the Year. Nishikori moved to the U.S. at age 14 to train at the Bollettieri Academy in Florida; he didn’t speak any English upon his arrival.

Greg Ouellette
Age: 25 (5/19/86) Hometown: Ormond Beach, Fla. Ranking: 301

Ouellette had the best season of his career in 2010, winning his first USTA Pro Circuit singles title at the $10,000 Futures in Peoria, Ill., and advancing to two additional singles finals. He also reached the semifinals or better at five USTA Pro Circuit events in doubles and excelled in ITF Circuit competition, reaching the singles final at three consecutive events in Venezuela, winning two. This year, Ouellette advanced to the singles semifinals and won the doubles title with Devin Britton at the $15,000 Futures in Brownsville, Texas, and also reached the singles quarterfinals of a Challenger in Canada. Ouellette was a four-time All-American for the University of Florida and peaked at No. 2 in the ITA Division I collegiate rankings during his senior year in 2008. He has jumped more than 400 places in the ATP World Tour rankings since the start of 2009.

Rajeev Ram
Age: 27 (3/18/84) Hometown: Carmel, Ind. Ranking: 226

Ram is one of the most accomplished players in USTA Pro Circuit history, with seven singles finals appearances (two titles) and 22 doubles titles, which is second all-time. In fact, Ram has established himself as a steady presence in the Top 50 of the world doubles rankings. He has reached the second round or better at all four Grand Slam events in doubles, including the quarterfinals at the Australian Open and Wimbledon. He has also won six ATP doubles crowns, including back-to-back titles in San Jose, Calif., and Delray Beach, Fla., earlier this year. In 2009, Ram won his first career ATP singles title in Newport, R.I., where he also captured the doubles title. He played at the University of Illinois for one semester, helping the Illini win their first NCAA title and post their first undefeated season in 2003.

Bobby Reynolds

Reynolds is working to re-establish his place in the Top 100 after a wrist injury kept him out of action for most of 2009. In 2010, he qualified for the ATP World Tour Masters Series event in Indian Wells and won two USTA Pro Circuit Challenger titles, in Ojai, Calif., and Tulsa, Okla. This year he has won ITF-level singles events in Mexico and Canada and captured the doubles title at the Tallahassee Challenger on the USTA Pro Circuit. Reynolds ascended to a career-best No. 63 shortly before suffering the wrist injury, having reached the third round at Wimbledon in 2008. In his career, Reynolds has captured 18 USTA Pro Circuit doubles titles, and he teamed with Andy Roddick to win the 2006 Olympus US Open Series event in Indianapolis. In three seasons at Vanderbilt, Reynolds became the school’s first two-time All-American and led the Commodores to the 2003 NCAA team final.
Michael Russell
Age: 33 (5/1/78)  Hometown: Houston  Ranking: 93

Russell is the men’s all-time leader in USTA Pro Circuit singles titles with 22, including a title at the Honolulu Challenger in 2010. On the ATP World Tour, Russell qualified for the event in Memphis, Tenn., earlier this year and advanced to the quarterfinals. He also qualified for the ATP Masters Series events in Indian Wells, Calif., and Miami, reached the second round of the Australian Open and defeated James Blake en route to the semifinals of the $50,000 USTA Pro Circuit event in Savannah, Ga. Russell has finished inside the Top 100 three times in the past four years and has competed in all four Grand Slam events, making six US Open main draw appearances. His best showing at a Slam came at the 2001 French Open, where he lost in the fourth round to eventual champion Gustavo Kuerten in five sets. Russell played one season for the University of Miami (1996-97), winning the ITA National Indoors.

Michael Shabaz

A senior at the University of Virginia, Shabaz is the two-time reigning NCAA doubles champion, earning him a doubles main draw wild card into the men’s doubles of the US Open in 2009 and 2010, and he finished the 2010-11 regular season at No. 4 in the national collegiate singles rankings. During the 2010 USTA Pro Circuit season, Shabaz qualified for and reached the final of the $50,000 Challenger in Charlottesville, Va., defeating current or former Top 200 players Ryan Harrison, Kei Nishikori and Chris Guccione for his best-ever professional result. Shabaz also competed in qualifying for the 2010 Olympus US Open Series events in Washington, D.C., and Atlanta, advancing to the second round of qualifying in Atlanta.

Tim Smyczek
Age: 23 (12/30/87)  Hometown: Hales Corner, Wis.  Ranking: 169

Smyczek continued to take solid steps forward in his pro career in 2011, winning a six-man USTA playoff to earn a wild card into the main draw of the French Open. He won a similar eight-man playoff to earn a wild card into the 2010 US Open for his first Grand Slam main draw singles appearance. Also this year, Smyczek reached the quarterfinals of the ATP event in San Jose, Calif., and qualified for the ATP Masters Series event in Indian Wells, Calif., where he reached the second round to approach the Top 150 for the first time in his career. On the USTA Pro Circuit last year, Smyczek reached the quarterfinals or better at five Challengers. He holds one USTA Pro Circuit title (at the $10,000 Futures in Orange Park, Fla., in 2006) in five finals, and he has also won three doubles titles.

Jack Sock
Age: 18 (9/24/92)  Hometown: Lincoln, Neb.  Ranking: 581

Sock capped the best summer of his young career by winning the 2010 US Open boys’ singles title, becoming the first American to win the event since Andy Roddick in 2000. Prior to that, Sock won the USTA Boys’ 18s National Championships to earn a wild card into the US Open main draw, his first appearance at a Grand Slam event, where he pushed world No. 63 Marco Chiudinelli to four sets in the first round. Sock has since transitioned to the USTA Pro Circuit, where, this year, he reached the final of the $10,000 Futures in Weston, Fla., and the quarterfinals of two events, including the $50,000 Challenger in Dallas. He also captured his second career doubles title at the Futures in Palm Coast, Fla. Sock has not yet turned professional and says he plans to compete for a fourth straight state singles title this spring for Blue Valley North High School in Overland Park, Kan.

Blake Strode
Age: 23 (7/9/87)  Hometown: St. Louis  Ranking: 533

Strode captured the USTA’s inaugural 2010 US Open National Playoffs, winning nine matches to earn a wild card into the 2010 US Open Qualifying Tournament, where he reached the second round. He will be returning to defend his title in the US Open National Playoffs this year after winning his second career USTA Pro Circuit title at the $10,000 event in Tampa, Fla. In 2009, Strode chose to defer Harvard Law School to play professional tennis and won the USTA Pro Circuit $10,000 Futures in Joplin, Mo., for his first pro title. That followed a successful collegiate career at the University of Arkansas, where Strode amassed nearly 100 singles wins and reached the semifinals of the NCAA Tournament as a senior to earn All-America honors. A product of his local NJTL program in Ferguson, Mo., and a two-time SEC Scholar-Athlete of the Year, Strode was named the national recipient of the 2009 ITA/Arthur Ashe Award for Leadership & Sportsmanship. He was also a winner of the Arthur Ashe Essay contest at age 12.
Ryan Sweeting
Age: 23 (7/14/87)
Hometown: Fort Lauderdale, Fla.
Ranking: 70

Sweeting soared at a career-high ranking No. 65 in May 2011 after winning his first ATP World Tour singles title at the U.S. Men’s Clay Court Championships in Houston. He also qualified and advanced to the second round of the 2011 Australian Open and has qualified for four additional ATP events this year, including the Masters Series event in Indian Wells, Calif., where he reached the third round. Sweeting won a USTA playoff to earn a main draw wild card into the 2010 French Open, and he qualified for the main draw at Wimbledon. In addition, in 2010 Sweeting received a wild card into the US Open and defended his title at the Dallas Challenger for his third USTA Pro Circuit singles title. As a junior, Sweeting won the 2005 US Open boys’ singles title while competing for the Bahamas. He was a practice partner for the U.S. Davis Cup team in 2006 and 2007.

Rhyne Williams
Age: 20 (3/22/91)
Hometown: Knoxville, Tenn.
Ranking: 762

Williams, a former top junior and a current sophomore at the University of Tennessee, won the prestigious USTA/ITA National Indoor Intercollegiate Championships in November 2010, beating top seed Alex Domijan and defending champion Steve Johnson en route to the title. As a member of the 2010 USTA Collegiate Team, Williams reached the final of the USTA Pro Circuit Futures in Pittsburgh. In 2007, Williams won his first professional title at age 16 at the same Futures event in Pittsburgh. As a junior, he won the 2007 Easter Bowl, reached the boys’ singles quarterfinals at the 2008 US Open and reached a career-high No. 8 on the ITF World Junior Circuit. Williams’ mother, Michelle DePalmer Williams, is a former professional tennis player, and his father, Bob, played collegiately at Duke University. Williams’ grandfather, Mike DePalmer, coached at the University of Tennessee from 1981-94.

Jesse Witten
Age: 28 (10/15/82)
Hometown: Naples, Fla.
Ranking: 212

Witten had the best Grand Slam result of his career at the 2009 US Open, qualifying and knocking off two Top 100 players before falling to Novak Djokovic in four sets in the third round. He built on that success in 2010, qualifying for both the French Open and Wimbledon for his first Grand Slam main draw appearances outside of the U.S.; he also advanced to the quarterfinals or better of four USTA Pro Circuit Challengers. So far this year Witten has reached the semifinals at the Challenger in Honolulu and the round of 16 at the Dallas Challenger. Overall, he has won eight USTA Pro Circuit singles titles in his career. Witten was five-time men’s tennis All-American at the University of Kentucky, reaching the final of the NCAA singles as a freshman.

Michael Yani
Age: 30 (12/31/80)
Hometown: Durham, N.C.
Ranking: 317

Yani broke into the Top 150 for the first time in his career in early 2010 after qualifying for the U.S. Men’s Clay Court Championships in Houston and advancing to the semifinals of the Dallas Challenger on the USTA Pro Circuit. Yani also qualified for the main draw at the 2010 French Open, falling to Lukas Lacko of Slovakia, 4-6, 7-6(5), 7-6(4), 6-7(5), 12-10, in a first round marathon that lasted nearly five hours. (The 71 games equaled the most in a singles match at Roland Garros since tie-breaks were instituted in 1973.) The French Open was the third Grand Slam main draw of Yani’s career, following Wimbledon and the US Open in 2009. So far this year the eight-time USTA Pro Circuit champion has reached the quarterfinals of the USTA Pro Circuit Challenger in Savannah, Ga., and another Challenger in Singapore, where he was born. Yani played collegiately at Duke University.

Donald Young
Age: 21 (7/23/89)
Hometown: Atlanta, Ga.
Ranking: 96

Young re-entered the Top 100 earlier this year after winning his sixth career USTA Pro Circuit singles title at the Tallahassee Challenger. So far this year, he has also advanced to the final of the Challenger in Savannah, Ga., and the third round of the ATP Masters Series event in Indian Wells, Calif., where he defeated world No. 5 Andy Murray en route. In 2010, Young appeared in the main draws of the Australian Open and US Open, advancing to the second round in Melbourne, and finished second on the USTA Pro Circuit prize money list. As a junior, Young was a two-time Grand Slam tournament champion (2005 Australian Open, 2007 Wimbledon) and, at age 15, became the youngest-ever year-end world junior No. 1. His best professional year came in 2007, when he reached the third round at the US Open and set a single-season USTA Pro Circuit record in total prize money ($54,000).
